PLAYPARKS

The Town Council is pleased to announce that its collaboration with the Bingham Community Parks Project is moving forward to enable the refurbishment of three of our playparks at Carnarvon Place, Wychwood Road and Cogley Lane. Our landscape architect has created innovative and exciting plans, which will work well within our community. Of course, our other key collaborator in this project is our residents, and it was good to see so many come along to air their views on the new designs at Wychwood Road and Carnarvon Place on Sunday 2 August. The Town Council will keep you updated on progress and will continue to need your input to ensure our playparks become the best they can be.

One of our younger residents giving the plans his undivided attention.

BINGHAM CHRISTMAS FAIR

We may be in the middle of a heatwave, but it's never too early to put a date in your diary for Bingham Christmas Fair, which will be held on 30 November 2018!

VOTE 100

From Baltimore to Baghdad, a wave of new female mayors is taking office, and Bingham is clearly determined not to be left behind. At no time is this more pertinent, as 2018 is the year of Vote100, the centennial celebration of landmark moments in the journey towards universal suffrage and the representation of all citizens in Parliament.

In this year-long celebration of women's voices in Parliament, it is somewhat appropriate that for the fifth time there is a female Mayor leading the Town Council, Councillor Jane Costello. Jane said that it was a great honour to be elected Mayor, but especially so in the centenary of universal suffrage, and she wished to pay tribute to all those who had campaigned long and hard for equal representation by promising to do her best for the community and the people of Bingham.
